

A bespoke workshop on dispute finance for in-house legal, finance and treasury teams

Businesses are under pressure to reduce risk and expenses, sustain operations, achieve growth and increase returns.

Dispute finance can be used as a capital and risk management strategy to pursue legal claims, awards and judgments while reserving capital for other projects, remove legal expenses from the P&L and leverage legal claims and awards as assets.

In today's dynamic environment, it is essential for in-house advisors, to find creative ways to enhance the business.

Omni Bridgeway invites your in-house legal, finance and treasury teams to an interactive workshop on dispute finance so you can bring creative risk-mitigation and capital management solutions to your business.

The workshop will address how:

- dispute finance works (for commercial litigation, arbitrations, enforcements actions and more)
- finance benefits companies:
  - risk reduction
  - cost and resource sharing
  - financing of core business needs
- to identify which cases are best suited to dispute finance and how to apply for finance
- financing impacts a company's P&L over the life of a dispute or recovery
- to get the most out of a financier's expertise
- to team with a financier and your preferred external professional advisers in a tripartite relationship
- to assess common finance agreements
