6. Q&A
What is litigation funding?

- Specialty finance – growing rapidly as corporates embrace benefits and law firms unwilling/unable to fund litigation
- Non-recourse capital for commercial and class action claims
- Capital pays legal expenses incurred in litigation
- Binary outcome: Funder receives share of economic recovery should case successful; nothing if unsuccessful
- Funder does not provide legal advice

CLAIMANTS
- Initiate legal proceedings
- Alternative to traditional hourly billing model (conflict of interest as law firms are incentivized to bill hours, not reach outcomes quickly)
- Deploy capital into core operations (vs legal fees)
- Remove legal fees from P&L (create budget certainty, manage EPS)
- Facilitates litigation that would otherwise be unaffordable

LAW FIRMS
- Provide legal advice to claimants
- Paid hourly rates
- Limited risk appetite
- Structurally balance sheet cannot fund litigation

LITIGATION FUNDER
- Provides capital to law firm
- Litigation Funding Agreement with Claimant
- Pay-out structure negotiated up-front
- Experienced former litigators
- Assume binary outcome risk

Litigation funder enters Litigation Funding Agreement with Claimant

Claimants receive residual portion of recoveries

Funder receives pre-negotiated payout for successful outcome (eg~40% of recoveries)

IMF Bentham has collected over $2.4 billion for clients and successfully resolved 89% of 192 completed cases since 2001.
1. OUTLINE OF CLAIM
Confidentiality agreement. Claim outlined by client or their legal representative.

2. APPLICATION REVIEW
IMF assesses:
- type and strength of case
- potential damages or settlement prospects
- legal fee arrangement
- likely duration
- amount of capital required
- defendant’s ability to satisfy a judgment

3. OFFER OF FUNDING
IMF Investment Committee evaluates due diligence report by an IMF Investment Manager. If Investment approved, Litigation Funding Agreement executed by parties.

   The claimant’s lawyers are subject to an agreed costs budget and risk share which are controlled by IMF.

4. CASE PROGRESSES
Generally case length 1 – 5 years. IMF also provides strategic management services.

IMF monitors case progress. IMF receives periodic updates from lawyers. In certain jurisdictions (such as Australia) IMF will also provide strategic advice concerning the litigation.

5. SETTLEMENT OR TRIAL
Majority of cases settle before trial, often at mediation, at which mediator assists parties to reach settlement. IMF involved in mediation with mutual interest in seeing clients maximise the value of their claims.

   We welcome an early dialogue with defendants and their insurers, to explore possible resolution before significant legal costs are incurred.

6. DISTRIBUTION OF PROCEEDS
If claim successful, defendant pays agreed sum of money into the plaintiff lawyer’s trust account.

Lawyer deducts fees owing to IMF pursuant to the Funding Agreement, and pays balance of funds to client. If claim fails, IMF pays Defendant’s costs on the terms of the Funding Agreement.

The big “W”

- Over the past several years we have managed two large investments in Wivenhoe and Westgem which represented both a material opportunity and a material risk given the size of the investments, the potential adverse cost exposure and the impact on profitability if these matters were won or lost.

- With respect to Wivenhoe, on 29 November 2019 Justice Beech-Jones handed down his decision in a 1,600 page judgment in favour of our clients. The decision identified that the defendants, the State of Queensland, the Queensland Bulk Water Supply Authority, trading as Seqwater and Sunwater Limited, were liable in negligence to group members.

- The judgment makes findings in relation to issues that are common to the approximately 6,800 group members. However, individual losses of group members still need to be proved relying on these findings.

- The events giving rise to the claim occurred in 2011, and the action commenced as a closed class\(^{(1)}\) in 2014. The trial commenced in 2017, and ran for over a year. The total external costs paid were in excess of $50 million, with several millions of dollars of expenditure deferred and carried by the lawyers pending a successful outcome.

Notes: \(^{(1)}\) on behalf of class members who had signed a funding agreement with IMF.

- IMF co-funded this investment with Innsworth on the basis that expenses and returns are shared equally and that IMF is to be paid a fee, such that, in effect, the commission is split 57.5% to IMF and 42.5% to Innsworth.

- In addition to external costs, given the length of time since these two investments commenced, and the amount of internal work undertaken, the carrying cost of the investments in IMF’s balance sheet includes substantial capitalised interest and overheads.

- The quantum of losses of all the group members is still to be determined. That process will likely involve an individualistic assessment. Any estimate of total loss and of IMF’s potential returns is subject to substantial uncertainties and relies on assumptions. In that context, IMF estimates that, subject to appeals, it is likely (on a conservative basis) to recognise income from this investment in the range of $100 million and $130 million, inclusive of costs. The timing of such recognition is uncertain.

- Subject to completing as anticipated, this represents IMF’s most remunerative investment to date.

- As noted, there is a risk that the judgment will be appealed and two of the defendants have given notice of an intention to do so. Income will depend on the outcome of the various processes, including any appeals, any settlement and any individual judgments in favour of group members.
The other “W”

- The Westgem proceedings were issued in 2012. The trial on liability commenced in early April 2018 and continued through to the end of June 2018. Judgment is expected momentarily.

- If IMF’s client succeeds at trial, there is a risk that the defendants will appeal a decision. If IMF’s client fails at trial, IMF will recognise the loss and will consider with the clients any grounds for appeal.

- IMF’s capitalised costs, inclusive of external costs and overheads are similar to those in Wivenhoe. An ATE policy has been obtained to insure some of the adverse costs in Westgem. Adverse costs of Westgem are covered to the extent of $7.5 million. Our uninsured exposure is estimated to be about $7.5 million.

- Based on the above, with the Wivenhoe outcome, the IMF position is materially de-risked.
The High Court handed down its decision on 4 December 2019 in what was known as the Westpac and BMW CFO appeals. The High Court by majority allowed the appeals, which effectively overruled the Appeals Court and the Court of first instance decisions to allow CFOs.

The media reported that this was the “death” of class actions and a “major setback” for funders. In the words of Mark Twain, “the reports of my death are greatly exaggerated”.

The High Court decision takes litigation funding back to a time before CFO’s were permitted (pre a decision in 2016 called “Money Max”), when IMF funded class actions under an “opt in” model, requiring claimants to sign-up to a LFA and agree to participate in the class action process.

The Money Max decision encouraged the “opt out” model, where a class member was in an open class, sometimes unknowingly, until such time as they opt out of the class. Funders were not required to build a book of interested participants or enter funding arrangements with each group member, such that the Court was required to intervene to set an appropriate commission rate payable to the funder from the recoveries (this was the CFO).

- IMF is uniquely positioned in the funding world with its internal infrastructure for book-building, to undertake class actions under the “opt in” model following the High Court decision.
- IMF will continue to explore class action opportunities on a closed class basis, and may be in a position to take over class actions that have been commenced on an open class basis where the funder lacks the capacity or interest in undertaking a bookbuild process.
- We expect this development will have a cooling effect on IMF’s competitors who do not have bookbuilding capacity, and should enhance IMF’s position as the pre-eminent class action funder in Australia.

The objectives of increasing FUM and cases include the diversification of risk, and to provide access to management fee and performance fee income.

Funding is sourced from seven funds, four of which are active for new investments each with different economics and returns.

Accounting for new matters remain consistent with historical treatment on a cost basis except for purchased claims that will be fair-valued. Assets of Omni that were purchased are carried at their fair value at acquisition date.

Restructure of OTC Debt

- IMF has completed the process of restructuring of its OTC Debt. The original maturity date for the OTC debt was 30 June 2020 and priced at 7.4%.

- We completed a consent process to enable an early redemption of the OTC Debt which was supported by 83% of noteholders.

- We completed the restructuring of the OTC Debt on 20 December 2019. Approximately 50% of previous holders exchanged into a new OTC note with the balance of holders being cash redeemed and those cash redemptions being funded by the issue of new OTC notes.

- The new notes will mature in January 2026 and align the covenants to the IMF listed bonds, including increasing the secured debt ceiling to $300 million. The new notes are priced at 5.65%.

Notes to investment portfolio (as at 30 September 2019)

Investments Included in Portfolio
The Investment Portfolio includes investments for which the IMF Group have entered into an unconditional commitment to fund and includes investments where a previously conditional funding agreement has become unconditional. It includes investments that have settled until they have finally complete and the associated income can be recognised. Investments in Australian shareholder class actions included in the portfolio as unconditional may still be subject to a Court process, where there are competing class actions claims, to determine which case proceeds.

Past Performance
Past performance is not necessarily an indication of future performance. Past performance indicates that IMF’s litigation funding investments have generated average gross income of approximately 15% of the EPV of an investment at the time it is completed (Long Term Conversion Rate). Both the Long-Term Conversion Rate and IMF’s ROIC may vary materially over time. By providing this information, IMF has not been and is not now in any way providing earnings guidance for future periods. IMF’s ROIC figures in its Investment Portfolio are reviewed by EY in its semi-annual review of completed investments.

The completed investment data has been reviewed by the auditor of IMF, EY, to 31 December 2018 and updated to 30 June 2019 by management and will be reviewed by EY as part of the year end audit.

ROIC (return on invested capital) is calculated as gross income to the Group less all reimbursed costs, divided by total expenditure (excluding overheads but including any adverse costs on lost cases).

IRR is calculated on underlying flows for completed cases including losses but excluding withdrawals, excluding overheads but including any adverse costs on lost cases.

EPV
EPV for an investment where the IMF funding entity earns a percentage of the resolution proceeds as a funding commission, is IMF’s current estimate of the claim’s recoverable amount after considering the perceived capacity of the defendant to meet the claim. It is not necessarily the amount being claimed by the claimants, nor is it an estimate of the return to IMF if the investment is successful. EPV for an investment where the IMF funding entity earns a funding commission calculated as a multiple of capital invested shall be calculated by taking IMF’s estimate of the potential income return from the investment and grossing this up to an EPV using IMF’s Long-Term Conversion Rate. An EPV is subject to change over time for a number of reasons, including, but not limited to, changes in circumstances and knowledge relating to an investment, partial recovery and, where applicable, fluctuations in exchange rates between the applicable local currency and the Australian dollar.

Possible Completion Periods
The possible completion period is IMF’s current estimate of the period in which an investment may be finalised. It is not a projection or forecast. An investment may finalise earlier or later than the identified period for various reasons.

Completion for these purposes means finalisation of the litigation by either settlement, judgment or arbitrator determination, for or against the funded claimant, notwithstanding that such finalisation may be conditional upon certain matters such as court approval in the context of a class action. It may not follow that the financial result will be accounted for in the year of finalisation. Possible completion period estimates are reviewed and updated where necessary.

Invested and Committed Capital
Invested and committed capital is equal to the total capital either invested or committed to investments, translated to Australian dollars at the foreign exchange spot rate prevailing on the reporting date.

Rest of the World/Non-USA
IMF’s Non-USA classification includes all regions excluding the USA in which IMF has commitments currently being Australia, Canada, Asia and Europe.

Accounting Consolidation of IMF’s Investment Vehicles
Funds 1, 2 & 3, and 4’s balance sheets are consolidated within the IMF group financial statements, with the respective external investors’ interests reflected as Non-Controlling interests. Fund 5 balance sheet is not consolidated within the IMF Group financial statements. The entire EPV and gross income for all investments including external investors proportionate share therein are included in this quarterly investment portfolio announcement.

Investment Commitments
(i) Fund 1 & 4 are the amounts committed to conditionally & unconditionally funded investments and are generally fixed; (ii) Fund 2/3 are the investment budget amounts of conditionally & unconditionally funded investments.

Other Costs
Includes unrecoverable due diligence costs; and for Funds 2 & 3 it additionally includes the cost of the After-the-Event insurance policy premium.
